When Mr. Johnson arrived at the camp he was surprised to find that the large majority of the "revolutionists" as they call themselves were Americans and negroes. One of the officers who was not there is Captain Pryce. He recently was found on this side of the line and taken in charge by Uncle Sam's soldiers and confined to Fort Rosencranz. At the time of his visit Mr. Johnson found everything quiet and peaceful, the rebels

THE RIGGS TRAGEDY.

Acting under orders from Coroner Irwin, the body of Wallace Riggs, who was accidentally killed three yesterday, brought to Mesa during Sunday night by Undertaken Burton. The coroner's jury adjourned the investigation until Mrs. Riggs and the two children could arrive in Mesa, which will be tomorrow night. The inquest will be closed at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning and the funeral is to take place immediately afterward, the hour set being 10 o'clock The investigation brought out the fact that Riggs, with his wife and two children, was out for a little hunting and fishing trip, and at the time of the accident was driving along the Roosevelt road with a shotgun, loaded, resting between his feet, which were on the front of the wagon bed. Somehow the gun slipped and Mr. Riggs leaned forward quick-
